

Probiotic Group Luxembourg S.A. ("PBGL" in short) is a company which produces and sells cleaning, hygiene and care products for homes, industries, humans and animals. Our products are made from eco-friendly and highly effective ingredients. The great advantage of our products is based on the addition of active and supportive microorganisms, better known as probiotics.

To strengthen our organization, PBGL is looking for a "RDI Project manager (Veterinary)".

You will be responsible for the planning, design & executing of RDI programs for veterinary products.

Your main responsibilities:

Your duties as the Project Manager (Veterinary Biologics) will be varied however the key duties and responsibilities are as follows:

- Develop projects in line with our group scope and objectives
- Develop and manage a detailed project schedule and work plan
- Manage the R&D process and ensuring that data and documents are managed in compliance with regulatory standards.
- Acts as key liaison with local and international veterinary institutions to develop cooperation
- Support the design and execute of pre-clinical and clinical studies and implementation of project plans through R&D stages
- Manage resources in an effective and efficient manner
- Provide project updates on a consistent basis to various stakeholders about strategy, adjustments, and progress
- Work with the Scientific Team to implement appropriate procedures and/or processes for all products
- Provide technical and educational support or assistance to the Scientific Team

Your profile:

- Veterinary
- Specialization in dermatology in a plus
- At least 5 years of experience in project management
- Industry experience in veterinary R&D projects
- Structured and methodical problem-solving approach.
- Strong analytical and synthesis skills.
- Ease to operate in a start-up/biotech environment.
- Good oral and written communication skills.
- Team spirit, rigorous, independent and pro-active.
- Fluent in French and English.
- Good in IT tools (Microsoft office suite, ERP, ...).

Offer:

Full-time position.

Permanent employee status contract (CDI).

Attractive remuneration, with all the Luxembourg social security advantages.

Position based in Beiler city (North of Luxembourg).

Does this opportunity to join in an innovative company motivate you? Do you want to invest in your future with a dynamic and fast-growing company? If so, please e-mail us your detailed CV with a motivation letter to :

jobs@probiotic-group.com at the attention of the Human Resources Manager. Thank you.